About the FDP

In the VUCA world of Volatility (a constant change, whether big or small is becoming more unpredictable. As events unfold in completely unexpected ways, it is becoming impossible to determine cause and effect), Uncertainty (difficult to anticipate events or predict how they will unfold; historical forecasts and past experiences are losing their relevance, thereby making things increasingly uncertain.), Complexity (modern world is more complex than ever. Problems and their repercussions are becoming more multi-layered, harder to understand, which makes the decision making difficult.), Ambiguity (Demands have become more contradictory and paradoxical than ever, challenging our personal value systems to the core. In a world where the "what" takes a back seat to the "why?" and the "how?", making decisions requires courage, awareness, and a willingness to make mistakes.), remaining strategically competitive is the language of future. Analytics is one such area helps to get insights of VUCA world.
